TOURISTIC INFORMATION/SIGHTSEEING IN VENICE

No need to pre-book any excursions. The easiest way to get from your hotel into Venice is to buy a return bus ticket from reception (currently €3.00-€ 4.00). The bus stop is located 150 metres from the hotel. Take the 4 or 4L bus (runs every ten minutes) and in fifteen minutes you will be in Piazzale Roma. From here you can take the vaporetto (boat) #1 or #2 (currently €9.00) along the Canal Grande towards Rialto and St. Mark Square. Alternatively, you can walk around the city and reach St. Mark Square in about fifty minutes. Returning from Piazzale Roma catch the same bus 4 or 4L and get off in Corso del Popolo.

Venice is the capital of the Veneto region in Italy. It is situated across a group of 117 small islands that are separated by canals and linked by bridges. These are located in the shallow Venetian Lagoon, an enclosed bay that lies between the mouths of the Po and the Piave Rivers. Parts of Venice are renowned for the beauty of their settings, their architecture, and artwork. The lagoon and a part of the city are listed as a World Heritage Site.

Basilica di San Marco (Saint Mark's Church): This elaborate church sits on the popular piazza by the same name. The church was built in honor of Saint Mark the evangelist, whose remains were stolen from their home in Alexandria, Egypt, and hidden in barrels of pork by a couple crafty Venetians, intent on bringing him to rest in Venice.

Piazza San Marco (St. Mark's Square): St. Mark's Square, or Piazza San Marco, is considered by many to be the heart of Venice. As the largest square in Venice, St. Mark's Square is the only "piazza" in the city. All other squares are campis or campielli. Lining the square are multiple historical sites including St. Mark's Basilica, St. Mark's Campanile and Doge's Palace, as well as a number of restaurants, making it the perfect spot for leisurely people-watching and wine sipping. Along with intricate architecture and hearty plates of spaghetti carbonara, visitors will also be met with throngs of tourists, pigeons and vendors selling souvenirs. If you hoped to pick up a gondola hat or a carnival mask during your trip, this is the place you will find them.

Rialto Bridge (Ponte di Rialto): Several centuries ago, if you wanted to cross the Grand Canal, the Rialto Bridge was the only way. Now there are other options, including the Accademia Bridge. The bridge's current incarnation is the handiwork of Antonio da Ponte, whose name translates to "Anthony of the Bridge," is built entirely of marble after collapsing multiple times from previous wooden designs. Predicted to fail by critics, the bridge still stands and is considered an engineering marvel.

Grand Canal: Considered to be the main street of Venice, the 2-mile-long Grand Canal is one of the city's most popular and highly photographed attractions. Recent travelers recommend hiring a gondolier for a romantic (but expensive) row along the canal.

Doge's Palace (Palazzo Ducale): Views from the Venetian Lagoon give the Doge's Palace an ethereal look — almost like it's floating on top of water. But it's fitting, as the Doge's Palace (or Palazzo Ducale) has witnessed an intriguing history in its role as the residence of the doge (leader), the seat of government and the palace of justice. Everything from execution orders to the affairs of Venetian leaders was carried out here; and a web of secret passageways and hidden doors reveals a decidedly mysterious past.

SIGHTSEEING IN AMALFI COAST/SORRENTO

No need to pre-book any excursions.

The Amalfi Coast is a stretch of coastline on the southern coast of the Salerno Gulf in the Province of Salerno in Southern Italy. The Amalfi Coast is a popular tourist destination for the region and Italy as a whole, attracting thousands of tourists annually. In 1997, the Amalfi Coast was listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site as a cultural landscape.

Amalfi Coast: Sorrento makes for a great base from which to visit the Amalfi Coast and the SITA buses run throughout the day from Sorrento to Amalfi. For a different approach hop on the ferry and get a unique look at Positano as you approach from the sea. The communities of Positano, Amalfi, and Arvelo are all beautiful and worthy of a visit. If time permits visiting only one, then, by all means, make it Positano. This stunning seaside community is built right into the side of the mountain and offers a dramatic landscape.

The main attraction, however, is the famous Amalfi Drive which offers up some of the most amazing coastal scenery in the world. If you're feeling adventurous then rent a car for a day and take a drive on this twisting, cliff-hugging drive.

Cathedral of Sorrento (Duomo): With its beautiful clock tower, the Cathedral of Sorrento is easily recognizable and is centrally located on the Corso Italia, the main thoroughfare in the heart of Sorrento. The interior of the Duomo, as it is known, is in sharp contrast to the simple exterior of the church and treats visitors to some wonderful frescoes and a dramatic altar with a crucifixion above it.

Old Sorrento: The old section of Sorrento is a wonderful place to get lost in its narrow streets and alleyways. Here you'll discover colorful shops, quaint trattorias and the true essence of Sorrento. Spend a few hours wandering this section of town and you'll know why Sorrento is such a popular destination. The old town center is home to numerous historical buildings including the Basilica of Sant 'Antonino and the complex of San Francesco, which includes the church, cloister, and convent.

Marina Grande - Marina Piccola: Take a walk down to the Marina Grande and Marina Piccola for a different perspective on Sorrento. The easy walk down the cliff will be not so easy on the return trip but it's worth the effort. Marina Piccola is the main port of Sorrento and where the ferries go to and from Capri, Naples, and Amalfi dock. Marina Grande is the old, former port of Sorrento that is now a quaint fishing village with excellent seafood restaurants and rustic homes and shops.
